

The consumer deserve the right to decide on how they recieve radio information. Either from a local broadcasting staion on FM/AM or through Satelllite radio technology on XM or SIRUS radio. If the local braodcasters wanted to provide a quality service to thier listeners, they would improve thier services, not attack other providers, such as XM Radio. The bottom line is that it's "MY CHOICE" who I want to listen to. If I feel local is better, I'll listen to them, and sometimes I do. And other times I listen to satillite radio. Face it, it's not about quailty of services being provided, this argument boils down to marketing and the local broadcasters are afraid of loosing listeners (which translates to dollars from marketing and air time). Not about who provides gaulaity, informative services!
